CONTEMPORARY GLASS WALL COVERINGS

Down by the river

Opticolour was delighted to fit a Cobweb glass panel, from our special-effect collection, in a property in London's Chiswick Wharf recently. The client chose Silver Glass with Black Thread (CW2) for her home wall decor, to complement her glossy white kitchen which also has dark worktops, brushed stainless steel fixtures and fittings, and a monochrome colour scheme that looks sleek, modern and smart. Our client was so delighted with her splashback, and so impressed with the service she received, shephoned Opticolour co-founder Katherine Hirst to thank her personally for the finished result and to praise the team for their wonderful work.

Our Cobweb home wall decor range currently offers a choice of eight colourways, inspired by rare stones with beautiful natural veining such as marble, onyx and lapis lazuli. With options ranging from classic black and white to shades of silver, champagne and coffee, these high-gloss panels add a luxurious look to any style of kitchen – they work brilliantly with both modern and traditional interiors and their natural tones complement a wide range of colour palettes. Handmade to order, no two Cobweb glass panels are the same, so if you're looking for an original design to add a unique finish to your interior, our Cobweb glass could be the answer!
